Purpose

To ensure that customers receive and sign a Terms and Conditions (T&C) agreement for each product purchased. This agreement must be reviewed and signed prior to any receipt of advertising services/products, reducing legal, financial and compliance risk.

Scope

This procedure covers all local market salespeople who pitch/sell digital and/or print advertising services/products.

Policy

Salespeople must send T&C agreements to customers prior to the delivery of advertising services/products where there is no existing custom agreement, standard agreement or insertion order (I/O) that already contains the required terms.

The customer must review and sign the T&C agreement prior to obtaining advertising services/products.

Roles and Responsibilities

Below are the responsibilities of each role related to sending T&C agreements.

Salesperson	• Confirm that a T&C agreement is needed (no existing custom agreement, standard agreement or I/O) • Ensure the agreement is sent to an authorized customer contact • Review T&C details for accuracy before sending • Send T&C through standard Salesforce/AdobeSign process • Sign the T&C and confirm that the sales manager/authorized customer contact have also signed it • Retain record of the T&C in Salesforce
Sales Manager	• Approve the T&C • Sign the T&C prior to sending to the customer contact • Enforce this SOP with salesperson team
Sales Operations	• Create/maintain documentation & training on the T&C process

Process/Procedures

Below are the basic procedures for sending a T&C. This SOP defines the required process. Detailed system navigation and screenshot instructions are documented in the companion Sending Terms and Conditions User Process Guide.

1. Determine Requirements

The salesperson is responsible for determining whether a T&C should be sent. A T&C is sent when:

- The customer does not have a prior custom agreement
- The customer does not have a prior standard agreement
- The customer does not have an insertion order I/O agreement
- The customer is purchasing standard rate card products/services

2. Identify Customer Signature Authority

It is the responsibility of the salesperson to determine who has authority to sign the T&C. It might not be the billing contact. It is the person with the quill pen.

3. Select Products

The salesperson must select all digital/print products that the customer has purchased/will purchase.

4. Review T&C Agreement

Prior to sending the T&C, the salesperson must review the T&C agreement to ensure accuracy.

5. Send Agreement

The salesperson must send the agreement using the required Salesforce/AdobeSign processes. T&C agreements are not valid/binding/legal if emailed directly to the customer contact.

Controls

- At least one purchased product must be selected when generating the agreement
- The signer must be a valid contact with a documented email address
- Product selections drive the inclusion of applicable addendums and legal terms
- Sales representatives must discuss applicable fees with customers before execution when relevant
- The T&C agreement must be sent via the approved Salesforce/AdobeSign process

Exceptions

Requests to alter any T&C language, terms, conditions, verbiage or required processes/approvals must be escalated to the Legal team.

Records

All draft and signed T&Cs must be retained in Salesforce for a period of 5 years.
